

to expand this section to include notes, tips and feedback from TWP instructors. If you use these materials, please let me know how it went, what worked for you, and any suggested changes or additions. I'd love to hear from you at chwixson \(at\) plymouth \(dot\) eduplymouth(dot)edu) or fill out as much of [this form] as you'd like.

Introduction

Throughout the chapters, I tried to generate Reflection & Discussion Questions that could be used either as in class (whole group or think/pair/share) discussion prompts or as written reflections assigned out of class. If your students generate any written answers to any of the Reflection & Discussion Questions in this chapter, I would be very interested to see them.

Our Mental Shortcuts

If you'd like to reinforce Kahneman's ideas about System 1 and System 2 thinking the video below (12 minutes) is very good, (thanks to Mike Davidson for this suggestion.)

//www.youtube.com/embed/UBVV8pch1dM

Reflection & Discussion Question 1: Taking Stock of What You Already Know